

Faraz Fazli

(516) 303-3988

farazfazli@gmail.com // farazfazli.com

New York, NY // Work Authorization: US Citizen

SUMMARY

- Passionate about Golang and Android Development
- Proficient in turning ideas into reality by writing clean, reusable, and fast code
- "...wisest man alive, for I know one thing, and that is that I know nothing." - Socrates

SKILLS

Languages: Java (Android SDK 4.4 – 6.0), Golang

Libraries: go-apex, Dagger, Butter Knife, Retrofit, SQLite, ACRA, Fabric, Picasso

APIs: Firebase, Parse, Facebook, Twitter, Google Maps, YouTube, Flickr, Forecast.io

Tools/Development: Android Studio, Eclipse, Gradle, Git, Genymotion, LiteIDE, vim-go

PROJECTS

I am always working on something new. Please check out my GitHub to see what I am up to.

EDUCATION

General Assembly January 2016 – Present
Android Development Immersive New York, NY

- Building a portfolio of Android apps using code principles such as Test Driven Development, as well as practicing Agile/Scrum methodologies

Treehouse (www.teamtreehouse.com) December 2014 – Present
Java & Android Development Tracks

- Completed all coursework, currently a forum moderator

Udemy (www.udemy.com)

Go Programming Language Course	November 2015 – December 2015
Android Marshmallow Development Course	July 2015 – October 2015
Android Lollipop Development Course	April 2015 – June 2015

SUNY Old Westbury August 2014 – Present
Pursuing degree in Computer Science (Honors College) Old Westbury, NY

HACKATHONS

- GopherGala 2016 - designed and coded the backend for a free blogging platform in Go. See the source code at github.com/GetGoBlog/GoBlog and see it live at goblog.pw. Users can make an account, create blogs, and manage them. Practicing extreme programming and constantly improving and changing to suit user preferences.